

BE AN OPTIMIST IT COSTS A DOLLAR

A SMILE IS THE SLOGAN OF AN INSTITUTION, NOW BECOME NATIONAL.

Are you an optimist?
If not, why not?
Lewis A. Parkhurst has just received a bundle of literature from the Optimist Club of America, and he wears a button in his coat and a broad smile on his countenance. The button bears the legend: "Smile."

Congressman Bartlett is a member of the Optimist Club of America, and when he was here he wore a button and a smile. The club is a national institution, and was formed for no other purpose than frightening away the bugaboo of hard times. The idea originated in the fertile brain of William J. Robinson of New York and Salt Lake, and was born in the Commercial Club of Salt Lake. Since then it has spread all over the United States, and the Governors of every State in the Union are on its executive committee, with Governor John C. Cutler of Utah, as chairman.

The following resolutions and declaration of principles have been adopted and plentifully signed:

"Whereas, there is a wave of pessimism and lack of confidence sweeping over our country today, making the timid more timid and causing strong men to tremble, and

"Whereas, there is a spirit abroad which tends to put the emphasis on the negative side of life, leading to conditions of extreme pessimism, it has been deemed wise to effect an organization for the purpose of putting the emphasis on the positive side of life and encouraging optimism and confidence.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that a national organization, known as the Optimist Club of America be formed, encouraging and disseminating optimistic thought and a spirit of confidence throughout the land.

"The annual dues of the organization to be $1.00 per year, which will entitle the member to a button of the club and literature from time to time of a conservatively hopeful optimistic character.

"We request the signing of the following Declaration of Principles of the Optimist Club:

"We invite every man who can smile in the face of trouble to join and pass the smile along. When we are a half hour dead we cannot change a quarter, and life is sweeter than death because we can still smile, and our smile may make some poor fellow forget his troubles.

"Nothing goes to the 'demnition bow bows' but the dead ones. Any old dead fish can float with the current; but it takes the live ones to swim up stream. It behooves good men to stand together and smile and have full confidence in themselves, their country and their destiny. Vinegar vendors have the floor. Let us establish a honey exchange and smile, stick and smile."

Here are some of the mottoes of the Optimist Club:

God reins, the Union still lives, and the sun shines, even though the clouds obscure it.

There are more people dying for the lack of a kind word, a pat on the back and a little encouragement, than there are from disease.

A smile is potential, magnetic and dispels trouble.

The man who never makes any mistakes, never makes anything else.

Hard luck stories are like overdue notes.

"Go bury thy sorrows, the world hath its share." Just smile.

Before money was invented some people were happy.

Shake hands as though you meant it, and smile.

Nobody can compute the value of a smile; a frown has cost a kingdom. You are under a real obligation to every man on earth.

When in doubt, take optimism. In darkness, in light, in sorrow, in blight.

Be an optimist ever and things will come right.

You cannot put influence in a glass case.

Optimism is the first-born of hope, the mother of confidence, the executioner of adversity and the undertaker of pessimism.

A frown is a renegade smile that is afraid to look itself in the face.

Nobody can really harm you but yourself.

On the faces of the happy aged it is a well known fact that wrinkles are only the footprints of smiles.

They that are whole need not a physician, but they that are sick. A smile is God's own medicine. The greatest smiler is the greatest healer.

On the vehicle of modern progress the creak of the wheel is the pessimistic protest; a little optimistic lubricant will silence both the creak and the creak.

The optimist wins.

A grin is a counterfeit smile and does not pass current because the heart stamp is not on it.

Optimism and pessimism have fought many battles; if optimism had not been a victor to date, hope would have died years ago.

In the realm of the birds, the lark is the optimist, the crow is the pessimist—why be a crow?

Clearing house certificates and tight financial conditions have afforded more people who never had a dollar, an excuse for their hard luck stories than anything that has happened since the Civil War.

The optimism of the optimist destroys the last hope of the pessimist.

Lots of people we know have no other excuse for living except the fact that their fathers were born first.

A hopeful optimism and sterling honesty are the ball bearings of business negotiation.

Crocodile tears will never moisten a handkerchief.

A self-made man is nearly always proud of the job, the tailor-made man of his tailor.

The stingy man is the most beloved on earth—by himself.

It's as easy to rob the friend that trusts and believes in you, as it is to shoot chickens in a barn yard. Be a sport and shoot game.

A kind word to a tired wife is like a drop of dew to a wilting flower.

Trouble-makers are rarely ever trouble-takers.

An undertaker is a man that undertakes to take you under; if you're a dead one he ought to.

A waiting expectant wife, a spoilt dinner sacrificed to just another drink, is a sure way to cremate her love on the altar of your selfishness.

You can be an optimist for a dollar. Send one buck to the Optimist Club of America, 152 Broadway, New York, and get a button and a smile. Be an optimist; don't be a sucker.
